Will the Sisters of Loretto Leave Their Old Kentucky Home.

News That They Were Going to Move West Caused Uneasiness.

A Great Order Founded Here Three-Quarters of a Century Ago.

THE WESTERN WATCHMAN MISTAKEN

When Father Phelan's Western Watchman arrived with the news that the Sisters of Loretto had decided to leave Kentucky it caused a feeling of uneasiness to prevail in many quarters, and especially among those who had been educated and prepared for life's battle by the holy women who comprise that great teaching order. The Kentucky Irish American at once undertook an investigation, and it soon learned that no action had been taken that would warrant the statement that the mother house would be moved to St. Louis. True, the matter had been discussed, but there it was dropped. The Sisters of Loretto do not want to leave Kentucky, which they regard the cradle of their order. Father John Riley, who was called from Nerinx, has returned and is now filling the post of Chaplain. The article in the Western Watchman, which contains much that is true, is as follows:

"It seems the Sisters of Loretto, recently raised to the dignity of an order in the church, have decided to move their mother house from Nerinx, Ky., to this city. This means the transfer of 120 religious, including the officials of the order and the novices, from the place that has been the cradle of the institution for nearly three-fourths of a century to the city of St. Louis, the Rome of the West. The Sisters of Loretto number a little over 600 religious, scattered over many States in the West and South, and successfully engaged in the work of parochial and academic education. The cause of this exodus from the governing body of the order from Kentucky is an unfortunate and long standing disagreement with the Bishop. We know nothing of the merits of the controversy beyond what Cardinal Satolli stated in the hall in which his Eminence was banqueting in this city, that in all the disputes between the Sisters and the Bishop that had been sent to Rome for the past three years the former were invariably sustained. We published some time ago that the proper authorities at Rome have approved of the Institute of the Sisters of Loretto and they henceforward would be a self-governing body, with their own Superior General and their own constitution, approved at experimentum. It seems the Bishop took umbrage at this action of the Sisters of Loretto, since their organization was considered an institution of the diocese of Louisville, and to emphasize his disapproval he recalled their Chaplain, forbade the reservation of the blessed sacrament in their chapel, denied them mass even on Sundays and actually placed the mother house and all in it under an interdict. This condition of affairs, of course, is intolerable and calls for immediate remedy. Failing to find such remedy in Kentucky, the Sisters have concluded to pack up and remove their religious penates to the banks of the Mississippi. Much as we love the Sisters of Loretto, and gladly as we would welcome their seat of government here, we deplore the necessity that compels them to move from the hallowed home that has sheltered them from their infancy and the saintly spot which holds the ashes of their holy founder and of so many hundreds of their beloved sisterhood. The order is a child of Kentucky, where for fifty years all its members were recruited. No man should be allowed to step in between mother and child."

SATOLLI COUNCIL.

Now Occupies Handsome New Quarters in the Wells Building.

The first meeting of Satolli Council held in the new club rooms in the Wells building took place Monday night with a very creditable attendance. President Crotty presided, and while no new business of any great importance was presented the meeting was an extremely interesting one. Among those present were John Fahey, just convalescing from an attack of typhoid fever, Attorney Jerry Kavanagh, and Edward Aud, who has again joined the ranks after being on the sick list for some time.

The members complimented the Ways and Means Committee on their new quarters, the selection having been made by Messrs. Will O'Connor and Harry Colgan. President Crotty came in for praise on his arrangement of the furniture. On the quiet it might be added that Pa Crotty knows enough about housekeeping to make some girl happy. Artist Colgan's arrangement of the pictures, combined with the color scheme, is so tasty as to draw forth words of praise from those noted French students, Will McNally and John Coady. The quarters comprise three rooms, the largest, an octagon shaped one, being the parlor, in which will be found the leather furniture "that served to make Satolli famous," as well as the handsome gold framed mirror, that called forth many eager bidders when it was first announced that Satolli would move. On the tables will be found the latest periodicals, the Kentucky Irish American holding a prominent position.

The second room is used for the meeting room as well as billiard room, and is also very nicely furnished. The paper is a deep red, against which the pictures of Cardinal Satolli and the late Arthur Bell show up splendidly. Another large hanging mirror and a famous battle scene from the Franco-Prussian war series occupy prominent positions. The parlor and meeting room are so connected that fifty members can easily be accommodated at a meeting.

The third and smallest is used for a game room exclusively, and Artist Colgan states that there was no reflection intended when he selected blue paper for this room. The leather furniture is certainly comfortable enough to make this room popular, and all in all, the snugness of the quarters will appeal to the members.

On Monday, September 26, Satolli Council will have the drawing for the handsome Baldwin piano. It was decided to have the drawing in the new club rooms, thus giving their friends a good opportunity to see them. The piano is now on exhibition at Baldwin's. The Satolli Glee Club has issued invitations to a dance at Fountain Ferry on Thursday night, September 22, this being the first of a series which the club will give this winter. The matter is principally in charge of a committee of ladies, of whom Miss Blanche Mattingly is Chairman, and it goes without saying that those attending will have a jolly time.

JESUIT FATHERS

Will Conduct a Two Weeks' Mission at St. Charles' Church.

The people of St. Charles' parish and his friends throughout the city were rejoiced last Sunday when Rev. Father Charles P. Raffo announced that he had secured the distinguished and eloquent Jesuit fathers, Rev. J. Reinhardt Rosewinkel and Rev. John J. Donohue, to conduct a two weeks' mission at his church at Twenty-seventh and Chestnut streets. Tomorrow morning the mission will open at the high mass at 10:30 o'clock, and will close on Sunday, October 2. The first week of the mission will be for the women and the second for the men. During the week the order of services will be as follows: Masses and short sermons each morning at 5 and 8 o'clock. Stations of the Cross every afternoon at 3 o'clock, and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening sermon and benediction.

Fathers Rosewinkel and Donohue are two of the most noted preachers in the Jesuit order, who possess the faculty of making their sermons understood by all who hear them. They will no doubt attract large numbers and accomplish much good while here. Father Raffo, who is a quiet but untiring worker, deserves to be congratulated in advance for the success of his efforts in behalf of his people.

NOBLE LIFE

Led By James Hartnett, Who Died Early Wednesday Morning.

In the death of James Hartnett, which occurred Wednesday morning, St. Louis Bertrand's church lost a pious and devoted member and the family a faithful and loving father. Mr. Hartnett was born in the County Kerry, Ireland, and came to this country in 1862, locating in Louisville, but several years afterward moving to Shelbyville. In 1890 Mr. Hartnett and family returned to this city, where they have resided ever since. He was employed in the city construction department, being an expert paver, but on account of old age and ill-health has not been able to work for the past year.

The deceased was a faithful member of the Holy Name Society, and was a regular attendant at all the church services, besides being honest and charitable in all his dealings with his fellow-men. Mr. Hartnett leaves two sons, Daniel and Michael, and four daughters, Mrs. John Welsh, Mrs. George Mosehman, Mrs. John McKiernan and Miss Mary, besides several grandchildren. The funeral took place from the family residence, 722 Oldham street, yesterday morning at 8:45 o'clock and from St. Louis Bertrand's church at 9 o'clock, where a requiem high mass for the repose of his soul was offered up by Rev. Father Lawler, who also delivered a short sermon paying many touching tributes to the noble life of the deceased. A large crowd of friends followed the funeral to St. Louis cemetery where the interment took place. May his soul rest in peace.

PLENTY OF WALKING.

Dr. A. R. Bizot returned Thursday morning from a week's visit to the World's Fair. The doctor says he was very much impressed with the exhibits and also reports that he is open for a walking contest, as his pedestrian abilities were given a strenuous test while seeing the Fair.

COVINGTON

Ready For the State Convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

This Year's Gathering Will Be the Largest For Many Years.

A Special Car For the Delegates Who Go From Louisville.

DOINGS OF THE LOCAL DIVISIONS

Beginning tomorrow, the beautiful and enterprising city of Covington will entertain the biennial State convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the

PATRICK WELSH.
Delegate and Secretary Jefferson County Board.

Ladies' Auxiliary of Kentucky. The first session will be held Monday morning in Elks' Hall, and many expect this convention to last until Tuesday evening. Though the Covington Hibernians had not given out their programme when this was written, the Kentucky Irish American has learned that the various committees have been working hard in the necessary preparations, and it is a safe prediction that good care will be taken of both delegates and the alternates and visitors who will be in attendance.

Covington is the cradle of the order in Kentucky. It was there that the first division in this State was organized more than thirty years ago. Men from that city came to Louisville and planted the seed from which sprung the four splendid divisions and ladies' auxiliary that are now stronger than ever before. And at the present writing the Covington division is as strong and influential as ever in its history. It has been ably represented in State and national conventions by Judge Michael T. Shine, who reflected great credit on the Kentucky State Board.

This year's convention will doubtless be the largest held for many years and never before was more interest manifested by those who are so fortunate as to be delegates. Louisville alone will be represented by a delegation of about fifty, and it is almost certain that Paris, Ashland and other cities will be equally well represented.

Tuesday evening a meeting of the Louisville delegates was held at Hibernian Hall. Patrick T. Sullivan presided and stated that the purpose of the meeting was to arrange for the trip to Covington. State President Keenan read a letter from County Secretary Hunt, saying the sessions of the convention would be held in Elks' Hall and asking to know the number of delegates and visiting Hibernians that would be there. It was also stated that the convention would open with a high mass at the Cathedral and that Right Rev. Bishop Maes would either preach the sermon or address the convention.

Messrs. John Mulloy and George Butler, who were appointed a special committee to arrange for transportation, visited the officers of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, who kindly placed a separate coach at their disposal. The train bearing the delegates will leave the tenth-street depot at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, and will be met upon its arrival in Cincinnati by Michael Cassion and a committee from the Covington division and escorted to the Denison House, which will be headquarters for the Louisville contingent. Messrs. Butler and Mulloy have secured tickets for delegates and visitors, good for three days, and they may have had from the depot tomorrow morning. Only those who secure tickets from them will be entitled to the special rate granted by the L. & N.

The present State officers have not been idle during the past years. Their reports will show the Ancient Order to be in a flourishing condition in Kentucky, with bright prospects for a number of new divisions in the near future. Thomas Keenan has made an excellent State President, and it was largely through his efforts that divisions were organized at Ashland and Paris and the preliminary work for others started at Lexington, Maysville and other places. In fact the entire State Board has left nothing undone that would advance the interests of the order, and each and every member has had a share in the good work. State Secretary McGinn will be the only officer unable to attend, and his place will be acceptably filled by William J. Connelly, of Division 4, who was appointed at a meeting of the State officers.

Thus far few changes or amendments of the present laws have been suggested, which will greatly shorten the business of the convention. The important business will be the election of officers, as the terms of all expire with this meeting. Of course there will be plenty of candidates when the time arrives, but as yet none have announced themselves. As the delegates are all men of recognized ability and standing there need be little fear but that good men will be chosen to guide the ship of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the oldest and greatest of all Catholic fraternal societies.

The meeting of Division 1 was made pleasant Tuesday night by the presence of a majority of the members of the State and County Boards. The visitors were welcomed by President Mike Tynan, who was gratified with the large attendance of members. Quite a large sum of money was appropriated for benefits for members who are sick. The Visiting Committee reported Messrs. John Dolan, Dan Sullivan and John Sullivan as on the road to recovery. Thomas Walsh, the attorney, and John Shaghnassy were again at their posts after an illness of several weeks.

A communication was received from County President Patrick Sullivan notifying the division of the calling of the county convention and asking for an expression upon the question of adopting a uniform initiation fee. Division 1 has always championed the same fee for all divisions, and so instructed her delegates to the State convention. Upon motion the election of alternates to the county convention was deferred to the next meeting. An invitation was received from Division 3 to attend its big initiation and social session next Thursday night, which was accepted.

The new constitution adopted at St. Louis was presented by State President Keenan, and all the divisions will hereafter be governed by its provisions, the most important of which relate to the admission of new members and the sick and death benefits.

Division 4 met Wednesday night and much enthusiasm prevailed when the arrangements for the State convention were made known. The applications of Mike Costello, Joseph Hennessy, Joseph Leihan, Richard Hardeman and Joseph O'Brien were received, and because of the large class waiting the degree it was decided to hold another big initiation on September 28.

James Langan and Joseph Monroe were reported on the sick list. All were glad to learn of the recovery of Mike Ward and Jerry O'Keefe, two of the staunchest members of the division. Charles Callahan was elected a delegate, and County President Sullivan announced the annual county convention for Sunday, October 2. Other visitors made remarks, among them the State President and State Treasurer. A pleasant feature of the meeting transpired just before the adjournment. State Treasurer George Butler and Officer Tom Brown led President John Hennessy into the ante-room, and during their absence his friends voted him a nice sum in addition to that appropriated for expenses to the State convention. This was done to show in a measure how the members of Division 4 appreciate his faithful services.

A special to the Kentucky Irish American from County Secretary James Hunt says the delegates will go in a body to St. Patrick's church, where high mass will be celebrated by Rev. Father Coleman, County Chaplain of the order. A luncheon will be served in the convention hall about noon, and a banquet will be given at night in honor of the visiting delegates.

MEETS THIS MONTH.

Bishop Maes Will Preside Over Sessions of Eucharistic League.

New York dispatches say plans have been completed for the third Congress of the Eucharistic League, which will be held there in the Cathedral College Hall on September 27, 28 and 29. Immediately after the date of the congress was set Pope Pius X. appointed as President the Right Rev. Camillus Maes, Bishop of Covington, who is protector of the league in America. There are 4,200 members of the league throughout the United States, and it is expected a large majority of these will be there to take part in the proceedings.

FRUITFUL NORMANDY.

A traveler in France writes: "Normandy is sweet, clean, green and prosperous. Its iris crowned thatches are the most beautiful, its posy gardens the most sedulously nurtured and its farm yards the most enchanting in all France. Its cows are sleek and good milkers, its horses world famous and its blonde women—those seasoned by field labor—always sphinxlike and often fair. It is attractive, sensuously speaking, at every season, and the Normans, with all their droll fears of their pocketbooks, are not bad company in the long run."

CORBIN

Has An Excellent School and a Devoted Catholic Congregation.

Good Work of Father Ambrose, O. S. B., and Miss Reiss, His Teacher.

Hopes Entertained to Become Center of Big Catholic Population.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR THE FUTURE

There is no more devoted Catholic congregation in Kentucky than that of Corbin, and it is particularly noted for its fine school. The Sacred Heart church at

MISS VIRGINIA REISS.
Popular Louisville Girl Teaching in Corbin Catholic School.

Corbin is presided over by the Rev. P. Ambrose, O. S. B., who is also the principal of the school, and is ably assisted by Miss Virginia E. Reiss, a graduate of the Louisville Girls' High School. Miss Reiss is delighted with her work and gives entire satisfaction to the patrons of the school. The Sacred Heart church was built only five years ago by Rev. Father Giles, O. S. B., and two years ago the present pastor, Father Ambrose, also of the Benedictine order, succeeded him. The congregation is small, there being only twelve Catholic families, but they are all faithful and devoted. There are about forty-five pupils in the school, fully two-thirds of them being non-Catholics. The population of Corbin is about 300, but it is increasing on account of the building of railroad shops, necessitated by reason of the extension of the Louisville & Nashville's new branch—the LaFollette, Knoxville & Atlanta—and more Catholic families are expected to locate there. The town has good railroad connections with Louisville.

The present trustees of the Sacred Heart church are Dr. J. H. Parker, Joseph Doody, John Kirk, John Langan and W. Surran. There is an Altar Society, which has done much for the church and the school, the main workers being Mrs. Dr. Parker, Mrs. Doody, Mrs. Wetherall and Mrs. Surran. All the members of the congregation are devoted to their pastor, Father Ambrose, who is an untiring worker, and all are well pleased with the fine work of their teacher, Miss Reiss, who is an accomplished educator and has a faculty of imparting information to the young. Miss Reiss is a sister of Mr. Edward J. Reiss, of the city Sinking Fund office in Louisville.

The people of Corbin entertain hopes that many home seekers will locate there, and that it will not be long until their enterprising little town becomes the center of a large and prosperous Catholic population.

SIXTEENTH CENTURY MANNER.

In an old book published in the sixteenth century and entitled "The Accomplished Lady's Rich Closet, or Ingenious Gentlewoman's Delightful Companion," it is written:

"A gentlemanman being at table must observe to keep her body straight and lean not by any means with her elbows nor by ravenous gesture discover a voracious appetite. Talk not when you have meat in your mouth and do not smack so hot that the tears stand in your eyes, which is as unseemly as the gentlewoman who pretended to have as little a stomach as the had a mouth and therefore would not swallow her peas by spoonful, but took them one by one and cut them in two before she would eat them. It is very unseemly to drink so large a draft that your breath is almost gone and you are forced to long strongly to recover yourself. In carving at your own table distribute the best pieces first, and it will appear very comely and decent to use a fork, so touch no piece of meat without it."

FOR 100 YEARS

Mrs. Margaret Carroll Led an Edifying and Active Life.

Funeral and Burial at Pewee Valley Last Sunday Morning.

The Rev. Father Boes Pays a High Tribute to Her Worth.

IS MOURNED BY MANY RELATIVES

Mrs. Margaret Carroll, aged 100 years, was buried in the little church yard of the Catholic church at Pewee Valley Sunday morning, after appropriate services by the pastor of that church, the Rev. F. W. Boes, who preached from the text: "Be ye faithful until the end, and I will give to thee the crown of everlasting life." A large concourse of mourners attended the funeral of Mrs. Carroll, who was the oldest inhabitant of Jefferson county at the time of her death. Father Boes also celebrated a mass of requiem for the repose of the soul of deceased on Monday morning at the Pewee Valley Catholic church.

Mrs. Carroll was indeed a remarkable woman. Born in the County Tipperary, in the town of Templemore, Ireland, in 1804, she came with her husband, Martin Carroll, in 1844, to Smith's Station, Jefferson county, now known as Pewee Valley, and she lived there for forty-four years. Sixteen years ago her husband died, and she moved to Louisville to be with her children. When she died she was in full possession of her mental faculties and her last words were prayers for the repose of her soul. Her death occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ellen Tierney, Twenty-fifth and St. Xavier streets. The remains were afterwards removed to the old homestead in Pewee Valley, where the body was laid by the side of her husband.

Father Boes in his sermon at the funeral on Sunday paid a high tribute to the deceased, and calling attention to her beautiful and edifying life, again quoted the words of the Master: "Wherefore be ye also ready, because at what hour you know not the Son of Man will come."

Mrs. Carroll's life was blameless and edifying to the end. She is survived by twenty-four direct descendants, seven of whom are great-grandchildren and all of whom live in Louisville. With one or two exceptions the entire family was at the home of Mrs. Tierney when death came. Mrs. Carroll had not been ill, but was plainly failing, and the descendants had been called together in anticipation of the end.

Her husband, Martin Carroll, was a nurseryman and was a prominent citizen of Oldham county for many years. His place was known as "Rollington" and his neighbors were W. N. Haldeman, W. D. Gallagher, W. M. Walker and Noble Butler. When he died, sixteen years ago, Mrs. Carroll came to Louisville and made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Carroll was in good health up to a week before her death, and in fact during her whole life had been ill but a few days. She read a great deal, but never used spectacles.

The descendants are divided into two divisions, the children and grandchildren of Mrs. Tierney and those of Mrs. Frederick. On the Tierney side the grandchildren are Mrs. Johanna Motsch, Mrs. Anna J. Eisenminger, Mrs. Maggie Dellean, Mrs. Sallie Cunningham, Misses Hattie Tierney, Emma A. Tierney, Mary Tierney, Katie E. Tierney and Rachel May Tierney. The great-grandchildren are Mary, Patsy and Frank Motsch and Theresa Cunningham.

The grandchildren on the Frederick side are Mrs. Lizzie Ballas, Miss Katie Frederick, George A. Frederick, Joseph M. Frederick and M. D. Frederick. This death and that of Mr. John J. Hargadon several weeks ago removes two true types of the Irish race. The latter was for many years a resident of the East End, and was active in all that pertained to Irish and Catholic affairs. The death of such men and women, through old in years, is a distinct loss to the community.

WOOLEN MILLS.

Charles F. Murphy Likes Louisville as a Place of Investment.

Mr. Charles F. Murphy, of Boston, Mass., who is at the Galt House for a few days, is at the head of the Hope Worsted Woollen Mills. The Hope Woollen Mills is located at Kentucky and Logan streets and is one of the largest manufacturing of the kind in the South. Mr. Murphy says he is delighted with this location. He employs about 400 persons at present, but soon will be in position to employ at least 600 more. Mr. Murphy is rather partial to Louisville on account of its low taxation and promises to bring additional capital here. Such men are always welcome here.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Will Celebrate Their Day at World's Fair on October 12.

Frank G. Cunningham, Traveling Passenger Agent for the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis railroad and a prominent Knight of Columbus of St. Louis, came over last Sunday to look after the comfort of the Catholic Knights who were going over his road to visit the World's Fair. When seen by the Kentucky Irish American reporter he said arrangements have been practically completed for a monster celebration by the Knights of Columbus on Columbus day at the World's Fair on Wednesday, October 12. This date is to be known also as Italian day and Discovery day, but the main features will be the exercises to be carried on by the Knights of Columbus.

In the forenoon the Knights will be addressed by his Grace Archbishop Glennon, Supreme Grand Knight of the Connecticut, State Deputy Scott, of California, and State Deputy Leahy, of Missouri, will also speak, and Prof. Becker, of St. Louis, will give a recital on the grand organ. After dinner there will be athletic exercises, including a match game of base ball between picked teams of St. Louis and Chicago. Athletes from all over the country will be brought together to participate in the games, which comprise all contests known to modern athletics. At night a grand carnival will take place on the Lagoon. The three vessels, Santa Maria, Infanta and Pizarro, will lead the grand procession and be manned by sailors, costumed after the crew of Columbus.

On October 11 there is to be a third degree conferred on a large class of candidates. The meeting of the Supreme Council will be held there, and the fourth degree will most likely be conferred on October 13. The entire week will be complete with attractions, and the attendance is expected to be heavy from all over the country. The Exposition Company is to expend several thousand dollars advertising this affair.

Louisville Council has appointed a committee to arrange for the attendance of its members, who will attend in large numbers.

RECEPTION

Given Father Fowler During His Visit by Oldham Club.

Rev. Father J. D. Fowler, former prior of the Dominican church, spent a few days here last week to see old friends, leaving Sunday evening for a trip to the World's Fair. After seeing the fair Father Fowler will go to Minneapolis, where he was elected prior for a term of three years. During his stay here Father Fowler was given a surprise reception by the Oldham Club, who were Father Fowler's able assistants in all his undertakings during his term as prior here.

A supper was served at Wagner's Hall, with the following in attendance: Rev. Father Fowler, John H. Hennessy, Joseph Morthorst, William P. McDonough, M. J. Walsh, J. F. Wagner, W. J. Connelly, John J. Barry, D. J. Meagher, John J. Score, Edward Wagner, John Burke, Thomas Lynch, Harry Brady, Mike McDermott and Pat Kilkenny.

Father Fowler made a short address, paying a tribute to the club members for their assistance in the past, and said no matter where he was located there would always be a warm spot in his heart for the Dominican parish. M. J. Walsh responded on behalf of the club and presented Father Fowler with a financial present from the club for his World's Fair expenses as a slight token of their esteem. It was voted the unanimous sentiment of the club that they hoped to have him in their midst at some future time.

LECTURE SERIES OPENED.

The Louisville Council of the Knights of Columbus opened its fall lecture series with the first meeting this month. Heretofore these lectures have been very interesting and instructive and attracted large numbers to the lodge room in the Elks' Hall. The subject for next Wednesday night's lecture will be "Phases of Temperance," and that for the week following is "Reviewing the Reviews."

SAVE YOUR PENNIES NOW.

The United States has for the past several years enjoyed a season of unprecedented prosperity. Workingmen, as a rule, have had steady employment at fair wages, and as a result of this apparent prosperity have spent their money freely. The prosperity which the country has enjoyed has been resultant from the force of circumstances, and not through any legislation which the party in power has enacted, for the Federal statutes are practically the same now as they were under Democratic administrations.

Times of depression in business occur in every decade, and the time for the depression has now nearly arrived, if it is not already here. The Kentucky Irish American is not an alarmist, but it would call the attention of its readers to the fact that all the great corporations are curtailing their expenses. Railroads are cutting down their shop forces, coal operators and steel manufacturers are decreasing their outputs, etc. It is therefore high time for the wage earner to have a care and to do likewise in the matter of his personal expenditures. He should cut down his personal expenses until times improve. There is not likely to be any great panic or disastrous financial crisis, but it looks like there is to be a curtailment in the measure of prosperity which has obtained for some years past. Now is the time to prepare for hard times by reducing personal expenditures.

In the matter of advertising this is the time for merchants to call attention to low prices. While it is the rule that people buy on a rising market, it is also true that those who have money may be and are often induced to purchase when prices are low. There is no probability, or hardly a possibility, that the United States will suffer long from business depression, but it is well to cut down expenses every now and then.

STRONG WORDS.

At the dedication of a school building in his diocese recently Bishop McQuaid spoke thus on the attitude of the Catholic church on the school question, and mentioned several important facts not generally known:

"The Catholic church stands for two great principles. The first is the education and enlightenment of her children. Secondly she demands that religious and secular education go together, just as the soul and body go together. When the soul leaves the body the body crumbles to dust, and when religion is taken from the school the school crumbles and fails to impart the proper education to its pupils. They say that the parochial school is un-American, but I want to say that up to about 1820 all the schools in America were denominational. The Catholics, Presbyterians, Methodists, Baptists and Episcopalians had their schools. Each religious denomination received a share of the school money. For example, in New York City on the site where the new St. Patrick's Cathedral now stands, there was a Catholic school supported by the State, and yet this country was America then as much as it is America today. But bigotry began to become rampant about this time and they cast about for a means by which to deprive our schools of what little assistance they were receiving. The first thing they did was to take the Bible out of the schools and declare that no money should be paid to any school teaching religious tenets. This was,

as I have said, in 1820, and it marked the beginning of the public schools in this country.

"I am an American! My father was an Irishman and I have great respect for dear old Ireland. But what is Ireland, France, England, Germany or Italy along side of America? We have the greatest country in the world, and the true meaning of American principles is respect for each citizen's rights and liberty. Years ago my young blood boiled in my veins at the thought of such unjust treatment at the hands of these bigots. Being an American citizen myself I could not understand how these men could usurp my rights.

"When I pay my taxes I have a right to know where my money goes. If it does not go for my interests I have as much right to protest as any other citizen. When my person is taxed my money should go where my rights go. Every man or woman who pays taxes has a right to see that their money goes for their benefit, and our share of the school money should go for the benefit of our schools."

Our Catholic readers should show this to their Protestant friends.

For a paper that "cares not a snap of the finger what site at Frankfort is chosen" for the State capitol, the Times of this city evinces almost too much interest. Our neighbor has been fighting the capitol site question so hard for several months past that almost everybody feels it has some ulterior motive in the selection of a new site. And color is lent to this view by the fact that the Times never does anything for nothing, you know. The capitol building is to be erected at Frankfort, and we say let the people of that city determine the site. The Times made a good fight against the present unsightly buildings, but now wants them retained. For what good reason?

Our esteemed contemporary, the Glaubensbote, tired of its fight against the Catholic Knights of America, has now turned its batteries upon the Catholic University at Washington, publishing the attacks of the enemies of that great educational institution. Herr Neuhaus surprises nobody by his course. His hostility to everything that is American and not German is too well known to need further comment. The University is all right, and he was aware of that fact when he gave place in the Glaubensbote to the scurrilous attacks he reproduces in this week's issue from the Hausfreund.

The most unpopular and unsatisfactory season in the base ball history of Louisville closed Thursday. This failure is entirely due to the parsimonious policy and bulldozing tactics of Manager Tebeau, who has already left the city. Fans and lovers of the game don't care if he never comes back.

The Trustees of our pretty suburb, the town of Oakdale, have succeeded in ousting Louis Rosenfield, the fresh young man whom they elected Clerk. They should not stop until they get rid of his father also, who is in no way qualified to administer the law or officiate as judge of any court.

John Sharp Williams, the Democratic leader in the house of Representatives, has notified Congressman Sherley that he will come to Louisville to speak during the first week of October, the date to be fixed by the latter.

The anniversary of the execution and cruel death of Robert Emmet occurs next Friday, September 23. England's history contains no more diabolical crime than that perpetrated upon the young Irish martyr.

SOCIETY.

JOSEPH LENIHAN

Appointed to Vacant Position by County Assessor Benson Herr.

There was great rejoicing among the legion of friends of Joe Lenihan Wednesday when it became known that County Assessor Benson Herr had appointed him to fill the vacancy in the Assessor's office caused by the death of Joseph Zanone. Never was the Assessor's office so well conducted as under the present incumbent, and Assessor Herr's latest appointment will, if it is possible, add to its efficiency and popularity. William P. Johnson, former County Clerk, was also appointed to an important post, succeeding Deputy Baird, who resigned.

Joseph Lenihan graduated with high honors with the class of '98 at St. Xavier's College, and since then has held a respectable position in the general offices of the L. & N. at Second and Main. For a number of years he has taken an active interest in politics, always fighting for the success of the Democratic party. Prominent in Catholic and Irish fraternal and social circles, he is a young man of great personal popularity and enjoys a wide acquaintance, and it may be safely predicted that he will go still higher. He is the son of Patrick Lenihan, an engineer with the L. & N. for forty years, and is but twenty-five years old. He will enter upon his duties Monday morning.

APPRECIATED

Kind Words Expressed For the Kentucky Irish American.

The Kentucky Irish American constantly receives commendatory letters and complimentary press notices, but lack of space has prevented their publication. Nevertheless they are appreciated, and that our friends may know the opinion held of us we select the following from among those received this week. It is from the delegate of Branch 25, Catholic Knights of America, to the State Council held at Newport:

"LOUISVILLE, Sept. 10, 1904.—William M. Higgins—Dear Sir and Brother: I must congratulate you on your clean and honest report of the Catholic Knights of America convention held at Newport, Ky., September 6. A few more paper men like you and our order would be on the top round of the ladder. Yours, "BEN SPEAKER."

OPENING AT BACON'S.

Next Tuesday will occur the fall opening at Bacon's, an event of unusual interest to the feminine population of Louisville. Amidst music and flowers will be exhibited all the latest creations in women's wear and everything new and novel in the dry goods line. Our lady readers should not miss this opening, which will surpass any yet seen here.

HIBERNIAN CONVENTION.

Sunday, October 3, has been set as the date for the county convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Jefferson county. President Sullivan has issued a circular letter notifying all divisions and the ladies' auxiliary, and also asking for an expression of opinion from the members on several propositions that will come before the convention. A complete set of officers will also be elected. This will be the largest county meeting held here for many years.

RECENT DEATHS.

The news of the death Wednesday morning of little Mary Regina, the infant daughter of Meinrod and Josephine Blag, Preston street, caused a feeling of profound sorrow among the friends of the bereaved parents. Her funeral took place Thursday afternoon from St. Martin's church.

The funeral of William Earl Gray, who was drowned in the river Sunday afternoon, took place from St. James' church, at Elizabethtown, Thursday morning. The deceased was the son of William B. Gray and the grandson of Mrs. Annie Ward, of 723 Oldham street, and was loved by all who knew him for his bright and cheerful disposition.

Carl F. Lorenz died at the residence of his son, Frank A. Lorenz, 1541 Bank street, Tuesday morning. The deceased was one of the oldest and most respected citizens of the West End. The funeral took place from St. Anthony's church Thursday morning and was attended by a great many friends. The interment took place in St. Louis cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Beaven, aged fifty-nine years, passed to her eternal reward Tuesday night at her home, 204 West Magazine street, after a short illness of typhoid fever. Four children, Misses Katie and Ellen and Samuel and John Beaven, survive her. The funeral took place Thursday morning, Rev. Patrick Walsh, of the Sacred Heart church, officiating at the sad service.

Much sympathy is felt for Charles and Amelia Nold, 2101 West Walnut street, in the death of their promising little son Charles, who was buried from the Cathedral on Tuesday morning. The child was burned to death Sunday morning while his mother was at mass. In an attempt to reach a match safe his clothes caught fire from the gas range, with the awful result stated. The father, who did all possible to extinguish the flames, was also painfully burned.

James Kehoe, a well known stone cutter and member of St. Aloysius' congregation, died Monday night at his home, 1219 East Breckinridge street, leaving a wife and several children to mourn his loss. For years he had resided in the Highlands and was held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. For the bereaved family there is felt the deepest sympathy. The funeral occurred Wednesday afternoon from St. Aloysius' church, Father O'Grady conducting the solemn funeral services.

FEDERATION.

Membership Committee Making Circuit of Catholic Societies.

The Federation of Catholic Societies of Jefferson County has gone to work to bring under its banner every society of Catholics in Louisville. At the last meeting of the Federation the Membership Committee announced that arrangements had been perfected for making a circuit of the organizations before the first of the year. The committee is composed of Messrs. Eugene J. Cooney, Dr. F. S. Clark, Michael Reichert and William Hillerich. These gentlemen, accompanied by Hon. Edward J. McDermott, visited the Knights of St. John and were given a careful hearing. After explaining the purposes of federation and giving assurances that nothing of a political nature would enter its deliberations, St. Michael's Commaudery decided to affiliate and elected Messrs. Wald and Bloemer delegates.

The last meeting was attended by twenty-two delegates, who had encouraging reports to make from all the organizations now affiliated. President James B. Kelly told our representative that there will soon be fifty organizations sending delegates.

WOMEN'S RALLY MONDAY.

The Catholic Women's Club will have a rally Monday night at the club house, on Walnut street, to which all members and their friends are cordially invited. Special preparations have been made for this rally, and a very pleasant evening is assured all who attend. The club is constantly receiving new members and the outlook for its future seems very bright.

HENDERSON.

Jesuit Fathers Conduct Great Mission For Father Lynch.

[Special Correspondence of the Kentucky Irish American.]

HENDERSON, Sept. 13.—The Jesuit fathers, Rev. J. R. Rossinkiel and Rev. J. J. Donohue, closed a most successful two weeks' mission in Holy Name church, this city, on Sunday, September 11. The church was for women, though not with absolute exclusiveness, at the evening sermons during the first week of the mission, and similarly for men during the last week. This prevented overcrowding and made room for the many non-Catholics who attended the night services.

A novel feature of the exercises was the introduction of congregational singing at the Stations of the Cross and benediction. Father Rossinkiel is a successful leader in this work, as he is also a forceful instructor. His pitiful, eloquent and interesting sermons and instructions to child and adult can not fail to produce good fruit for the future as they have done for the moment. And Father Donohue, eloquent, clear and whole souled, how he can fill a church and carry his audience with him! We regret he could not remain with us a week longer and give a series of night lectures on doctrinal subjects, when the intelligence of the town would pack the church.

All rejoice in the blessed work done here by the missionaries and congratulate in advance the parishes that will have Fathers Donohue and Rossinkiel in the future. HENDERSONIAN.

IRISH NIGHT.

Next Thursday Division 3, A. O. II., will have an Irish night for its members and all Hibernians of the Falls Cities. The officers will be at the State convention on Monday, therefore the regular meeting has been postponed till Thursday night, when there will be a big initiation followed by a social session. President Quinn wants all members of the order to know that they will be welcome, and also that a good time awaits them.

COCKRAN COMING.

Chairman Hager and Secretary Haley, of the State Democratic Committee, have invited the Hon. Bourke Cockran, of New York, to make an address in Louisville during the campaign. It is more than probable that the eloquent Irishman will be heard here. His presence would attract an immense gathering, as men of all political parties would want to hear him.

CONVALESCING.

Jonathan Thickett, one of Jeffersonville's oldest and best known residents and State President of the Catholic Knights of America, who has been seriously ill, is reported much improved. His son, George Thickett, came from Terre Haute last week to be with him until he was convalescent.

STROKE FATAL.

Patrick Sweeney, well known and well liked in Nelson and Spencer counties, and for years the head distiller at the McKenna distillery at Fairfield, died Tuesday from a paralytic stroke. Besides one daughter, Mrs. George Greenwell, who lives at Taylorsville, the deceased leaves five young children. Mr. Sweeney was a gentleman of the old school, always cheerful and ever ready to counsel and assist those in distress, and in the section in which he lived he will be greatly missed.

EICHORN AND KOLLROSS

Well Known Professors Will Give Military Band Concert.

Louisville is in need of a first-class military band and mixed chorus. Everybody will concede this. But few, however, are willing to aid in forming such a band unless special attention is called to the movement. It is the purpose of this notice to call attention to the movement recently inaugurated by Professors Eichhorn and Kollross, distinguished in their profession for many years in the Falls cities, and favorably known to everybody in the musical world. They propose to organize a fine band. Their first concert will be given at Masonic Theater Sunday evening, November 20. The tickets for the concert are now on sale and the details will be later presented in our advertising columns.

BANQUET TONIGHT.

This evening at 430 West Green street the friends of William Morrison will assemble at the banquet table to enjoy themselves in celebrating his sixty-sixth birthday. Col. Morrison has been a member of Louisville Typographical Union for over thirty years, coming to this city from Cincinnati in 1868. During these years he has held positions on all the local newspapers, and as a member of the "art preservative" was up to date in all its branches. "The Farmer" is sixty-six today, but he doesn't look the half of it. He is truly the youngest old and the oldest young bachelor in Louisville, and of this all who attend the banquet will be convinced. His friends will be there in numbers, and it goes without saying that this "sixty-sixth" will be one to be remembered by the invited guests.

MISS HIS GLAD SMILE

Patrolman Pat Kenaley has been ill for the past several days at his residence, 1410 Seventh street. Besides being a brave and efficient officer, Pat is an all around good fellow and an active worker in the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The residents on his beat and his many friends hope to him out in a few days, as they miss his cheery smile and pleasant ways.

BUSINESS AND PLEASURE.

Steve Toomey, the popular manager of John Gorman's cafe, Fourth and P streets, has been visiting the World's Fair during the past week. Steve is combining business with pleasure, as he is interested in several race horses that are now at the St. Louis track.

MASONIC.

One of the new farces that has made a big hit in the East this season is "My Wife's Family," which has been booked for the Masonic Theater next week. The leading role will be taken by Harry Linton. The farce is said to contain a number of clever musical specialties.

SATOLLI VS. BARRY.

The Louisville and Lexington Councils After Base Ball Honors.

Satolli Council, Y. M. I., recently organized a ball team composed of popular young men of this city who have won distinction on the diamond. Last Sunday Edward Pope visited Lexington and arranged with Manager Dan Crowe for a game tomorrow with the team of Barry Council. Barry Council has a fine ball park and its players have been more successful than Tebeau's team, and therefore Manager Crowe is experiencing no uneasiness as to the outcome. On the other hand Manager George Perry and his men have set out with a grim determination to capture the game and return crowned with the laurel wreath of victory, and therefore ask all their friends to accompany them on the Southern special leaving the Seventh-street depot at 7:40 a. m. and co-operate with them in vanquishing the invincible Barryites by their victorious routing.

Satolli's representative was treated royally while in Lexington, and as the most friendly feeling exists between the councils of the Bluegrass capital and the Falls Cities a good time and fine game may be expected. The line-up of Satolli's till will be as follows: Dugan, catcher; Musselman, captain and pitcher; O'Connor, first base; Imorde, second base; Boardman, third base; Parsons, short stop; Muiroy, left field; H. Pope, center field; R. Pope, right field; Lancaster, sub. The picture of Barry Council's team and managers also appears in this issue. Returning the train will leave Lexington at 5:30 o'clock.

BAZAR ON KNOBS.

Rev. Father Hildebrand and the congregation of St. Mary's of the Knobs have selected the week beginning on Sunday, October 16, for their annual bazar, for which extensive preparations are being made. These bazars have been held for several years and are largely patronized by the people of the Falls Cities and those living in Lafayette and the adjoining townships. The proceeds will be applied to the fund for the erection of a new church.

MACKIN COUNCIL.

Only routine business was transacted Tuesday night at the meeting of Mackin Council, Y. M. I. The attendance was rather small, therefore action upon several questions was deferred. The Supreme Council will be asked to reverse the action of the Kentucky Grand Council regarding reinstatement of members who have been suspended, but those who seem best informed believe the new law will stand. Work on the new club house progresses satisfactorily, and preparations will soon commence for its dedication.

RECEPTION AND DANCE.

The Young Ladies' Auxiliary of Trinity Council, Y. M. I., will entertain their friends with a reception and dance next Tuesday evening at the club house, 718 East Gray street. This is the auxiliary's first social affair of the season and they are making arrangements that will tend to make it an auspicious opening.

DISHCLOTHS.

The dishcloth in many homes is a breeding place for microbes and contains more disease germs than almost anything else of the same size. Cheesecloth bags, in which salt and sugar come, make good dishcloths. It is a good plan to have two sets for constant use. They should be thoroughly washed every morning in hot water, to which has been added ammonia, soda or washing powder, then rinsed and hung in the air to dry. Use them on alternate days. Besides it is well to rinse them each time after using and boil them once a week. If they acquire an odor, burn them.

IMPROVED TRAIN SERVICE

Offered by the Henderson Route Between Louisville and St. Louis.

Commencing Sunday, June 26, Kentucky's popular line, the Henderson route, will inaugurate a safe and fast day service between Louisville and St. Louis in each direction, and will improve the time and equipment generally of all trains between these points. Three daily trains will be operated in each direction on the following safe schedules between Louisville and St. Louis:

Leave Louisville 8:30 a. m., 9 p. m. and 7 a. m.; arrive St. Louis 6:16 p. m., 7:20 a. m. and 6:16 p. m.

The equipment is brand new (just from the shops), of the most modern vestibule pattern, and is as fine as on any train operating in or out of Kentucky. The 8:30 a. m. train, through without change of cars, will be composed of Pullman observation parlor cars, free reclining chair cars, dining cars and high back seat passenger coaches. The 9 p. m. train, through without change of cars, will consist of Pullman sleeping cars, free reclining chair cars and high back seat passenger coaches. The dining cars on day trains will serve meals a la carte—you pay only for what you get.

All trains will leave from and arrive in the Seventh-street Union depot, Louisville, arriving at and departing from the magnificent new Union Station, St. Louis. For any other information call upon E. M. Womack, City Passenger Agent, 230 Fourth Avenue, Louisville, or P. G. Cunningham, Traveling Passenger Agent, 206 North Broadway, St. Louis.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

There is talk of forming another division at Seattle. There are three there now.

The headquarters of the Iowa Ladies' Auxiliary during the State convention at Sioux City were at St. Vincent's Home.

Division I of Stillwater, Minn., starting in 1882 with a charter list of thirty-seven, now has 232 members. Its Ladies' Auxiliary has a membership of 161.

The Rev. Bernard Brady, rector of St. Joseph's church at Yonkers and New York's newly elected State Chaplain, has organized a Ladies' Auxiliary at Sing Sing.

Rev. Father Grace, pastor of St. Mary's church at Providence, R. I., was extended a vote of thanks at the meeting of Division 20 for promising that he would have Irish history taught in the new St. Mary's parochial school.

Between 400 and 450 delegates were in attendance at the Minnesota State convention, which opened Tuesday at Stillwater. Before the first session the delegates and visitors attended high mass in St. Michael's church. The local committee had arranged several entertaining features for the two days of the convention.

The programme of the Iowa State convention opened with mass and sermon in the Cathedral at Sioux City on Tuesday. At the banquet in the evening Bishop Garrigan responded to a toast. Wednesday delegates and visitors were given a trolley ride over the city and witnessed a ball game and were tendered a grand ball in the evening.

An interesting item for all to know is that the combined treasuries of the various divisions in America and Canada have the grand total of $1,510,977.85, and have paid but for charitable purposes during the past two years $99,576. The total membership of both bodies at the present time is 171,955. One division exists in the Hawaii Territory and one in the Republic of Mexico.

One of the means to be adopted by the national officers in bringing the order more to the attention of the American people will be a Hibernian Lecture Bureau, to be under the charge of the National Secretary. Some of the greatest Irish-American orators will be engaged to deliver a series of lectures in all cities where the order exists. Rev. J. K. Larkin, of Memphis, was the author of this idea at the recent national convention.

The Most Rev. John M. Farley, D. D., Archbishop of New York, has announced his acceptance of the office of National Chaplain, tendered him some weeks ago by President Dolan. The Archbishop's decision has been everywhere received with rejoicing. His predecessors include some very noted churchmen, among them the late Archbishop Feenhan, Bishop Foley, Bishop McPaul and Archbishop Glennon, the pride of the church in the West.

WINNING NUMBERS.

The drawing for the prizes offered at the picnic for St. Joseph's church has taken place, the lucky numbers being held by the following: C. H. Bills, barrel of flour; G. McManon, load of coal; Mrs. Henry Rosse, fancy rocker; J. O'Neill, extension table; G. A. Schneider, parlor lamp; J. Bacon & Sons, barrel of potatoes; F. Gnaul, Sr., dozen cabinet photos. Any who have not yet received their prizes are requested to call and get them.

RELIGION KEPT HIM BACK.

An amusing incident happened on a Seventh-street car that was overheard by a Kentucky Irish American reporter. An aged Jewish Rabbi rose to give his seat to a young lady who was hanging by a strap, but a rough-looking young fellow standing in back of the Rabbi slipped into the seat. Both men glared at each other for a few minutes until finally the young fellow said:

"Don't look at me as if you were going to eat me."

The Rabbi replied: "That would be impossible, as my religion doesn't permit me to eat swine."

MACAULEY'S.

Macauley's Theater will open for the season Monday night, the first attraction being "Vivian's Paps," presenting Miss Blanche Ring, supported by Harry Conner and a strong company of comedians. This play is said to be the funniest piece presented in this country in recent years, and has the added advantage of being up to date and strictly American in characterization and atmosphere. The engagement is for Monday and Tuesday nights and Tuesday matinee. All Fields' minstrels open Friday night for three performances.

BUCKINGHAM.

Next week the Kentucky Belles will occupy the boards of the Buckingham Theater. No doubt the performance given by this company will be excellent in detail, as the show is owned by the Whalen Bros., who are managers and owners of the Buckingham Theater. Besides a really funny comedy, introducing the entire company, the olio includes a number of new and startling features.
